

NEWS & NOTES

SUNDAY 22 OCTOBER 2023 - PENTECOST 21

Our News and Notes reflections are going to take a more practical turn for the next few weeks. As I begin ministry at Floreat some things will begin to change, and some things will remain the same. In these reflections I hope to give you some insight into why some of the changes are happening, particularly in worship. As always, please come and have a conversation with me or send me an email if you want to discuss further anything I write.

Today I want to talk about the offering. Currently, All Saints has the offering on your way out so there is no dedication of the offering in the worship service. I am very keen to see one included. I believe it is important during a service that we take the time to thank those who financially give as well as those who give their time and constantly remind ourselves that it is all given for the church and God. So, the offering is making a comeback.

That said, both the Worship committee and I feel that passing around the plate is not very practical when so many of our congregation give electronically and it can be tricky in pews with few people. But we also want something to dedicate as part of the service. So, we are going to have a bowl for the offering available at the back of the sanctuary for you to place your offering in when you arrive. We will also make sure during the next month or so we provide an opportunity for people to add their giving at the end of the service if they have forgotten earlier. Let me know what you think? What does the dedication mean for you?

Friendship Group Spring Variety Day

Thank you to all the people who contributed to the Variety Day on Saturday. We all had such a wonderful time.

Thank you to...

The people who made cakes and sandwiches

Sewed tablecloths

Provided flowers for each table

Worked in the kitchen

Took photographs

And helped in other ways.

Thank you to Reuben who joined into the spirit of the occasion and answered all those 'Getting to Know You' questions.

Special thanks to our amazing musicians

And to Phillip for his hilarious 'Blackberry' skit.

And to the wonderful Deborah...our Quiz Master and Host 'extraordinaire'.

But over and above all these people we owe our special thanks to Lillian who organised the whole day.

Thank you, Lillian for making this happen.

Our Friendship Groups are the glue that holds us all together, helping us to bond with each other and to feel a sense of belonging to this special Congregation that we simply call 'The All Saints Family.'

Maxine.
